Three SA Bureau of Standards Sub-Committees to Deal with Aspects of Communication Technology

The SABS technical committee 74 (TC74) has established three sub-committees which have been tasked with the development and approval of communication equipment standards. Of main interest for Amateur Radio is committee TC74D that is tasked with standards for communication systems utilising the electromagnetic spectrum. TC 74 will remain the oversight committee.

On the PLC front, ESKOM is considering the use of power line communication in the frequency range up to 500 kHz for remote network management and metering. Members of the TC62, TC73, TC74 and TC80 will soon meet to discuss the process to be used to establish a standard. The issue of Broadband PLT is currently being handled by a joint workgroup of TC73 and TC80. The SARL representative, Hans van de Groenendaal, ZS6AKV, chairs this workgroup, designated WG6. It is not likely that the Broadband PLT work will move to the group considering the low frequency PLC.

The term PLC and PLT are confusing. ICASA uses PLT for the broadband application while the power utilities refer to it as PLC. The principal of operation is the same just the frequency of operation differs.

Low frequency PLC does not pose a material threat to amateur radio while the high frequency version could potentially create havoc on the HF bands. Final regulations are still awaiting review by the ICASA Council. Although the draft regulations do not include the notching of

21 years Namibia, 21 years NARL

The activation of the special event call sign V521NAM was a huge success. We received numerous mails requesting an extension of time for the call sign. The Namibian Communications Commission granted this extension. The call can now be worked until 27 March 2011. All QSL details are on QRZ.com.

Do not waste your time on working HS0ZDZ. "The last entry in his log that I have is 31 July 2004," his QSL manager, GM4FDM, says. Three months later the genuine Ray Gerrard, HS0ZDZ / G3NOM, suffered a serious stroke and is no longer active. GM4FDM is "slowly putting Ray's logs onto LoTW. HS0ZDZ and HS0/G3NOM are already there."

7 MHz balloon trans-Atlantic attempt

The balloon Speedball-1 should be attempting a crossing of the Atlantic on Friday UTC (Thursday evening ET) and it will be carrying a 7,102 MHz USB Amateur Radio beacon. The launch will hopefully take place on Friday 25 March at 01:00 UTC (Thursday 24 March at 9 PM Eastern Time) from Space Port Indiana, in Columbus IN. If weather conditions are not favourable, further launch attempts will be made on Saturday and Sunday UTC.

It is expected to take between 36 and 72 hours to complete the crossing with a landing in either Southern Europe or North Africa.

The 40 m beacon is capable of transmitting both RTTY and DominoEX and the free software dl-fldigi can be used to decode it. However, the Twitter feed indicates that a few days ago they were having RFI problems with the flight computer, which was resetting whenever the HF transmitter was on, hopefully these have been resolved, see <http://twitter.com/LVL1WhiteStar/>

You can sign up for a launch notification announcement on the right-hand side of the home page at <http://whitestarballoon.org/>.

Follow the flight live at <http://track.whitestarballoon.com/>. Details of the HF Payload <http://wiki.whitestarballoon.com/doku.php?id=hardware:radio:hf:wb8elkwhitestarn17>

Southern Sudan 2011. Antonio, EA5RM, member of the Intrepid-DX/DX Friends Group planning a multi-national DXpedition to Southern Sudan, sent out the following press release this past week: "After a long way, a lot of hard work and several successful meetings with Southern Sudan Government officials of various Ministries, just today, the first amateur radio license has been issued by the new government.

Southern Sudan Government officials now understand amateur radio, and they are ready to change the actual rules and regulations as soon as possible, looking to simplify the process of obtaining a license, so that everyone can enjoy amateur radio in this new country.

We have the cooperation of both Ministries to update our license if there is a new prefix that will be assigned by ITU, and we'll be in permanent contact with the proper department helping in the development of amateur radio in Southern Sudan.

Our DXpedition will start on 9 July from Juba so please stay tuned. I want to thank the Government of Southern Sudan officials for their co-operation and my whole team support....." Antonio Gonzalez, EA5RM

SARL 80 m Club Championship

The 2011 SARL Contest Manual - Blue Book, Issue 9 Page 20 of 73

The SARL 80 Metre Club Championship is a series of short weekday evening contests on 80 m based around competition between affiliated radio clubs. Individual scores in every event count towards a radio club's overall score so it is important for the club to get members to come on the air during as many sessions and as many modes as possible.

The second contest for 2011 is the Digital (PSK31 and RTTY) contest that will be run from 17:30 UTC (19:30 CAT) to 18:30 UTC (20:30 CAT) on Wednesday 30 March 2011. The exchange is a RS(T) and a consecutive serial number starting at 001. Participation can be as a Single Operator or Multi-operator station.

The following segment must be utilised for the contest - Data modes 3580 - 3620 kHz
Note: The frequency segment 3580 to 3585 kHz is reserved for PSK31 operation - stations operating PSK should transmit only between these limits. Stations operating RTTY should not attempt to make QSOs in this 5 kHz segment.

Stations score one (1) point per contact. A participant may be contacted twice on data modes (once on RTTY, once on PSK). In the data modes contests, contact may be on RTTY or PSK only. The same station may be worked on both RTTY and PSK.

Each session is a contest in its own right, and log entries must be submitted to zs4bfn@netactive.co.za within seven (7) days of the contest. The closing time and date is 23:59:59 on Wednesday 6 April.

In order to count towards the total for an affiliated radio club, the radio club name must be clearly indicated on the entry, and one of the entries submitted must be the radio clubs call sign. Radio clubs may wish to appoint a co-ordinator who can ensure that entries contain all required in-formation and are submitted on time.

At the end of the programme in November, the affiliated radio club whose members have made the highest aggregate score will be awarded the Affiliated Club trophy.
